DE VALERA AGAIN DEFEATED

Effort to Re-Elect Him President Beaten in Dail

VOTED DOWN BY 58 TO 60

Fight Started For Former Executive by Women

DUBLIN—(By Associated Press)—The motion to re-elect Eamon De Valera president of the Irish republic was defeated in the Dail Eireann today by a vote of 58 to 60.

DUBLIN—(By Associated Press)—As soon as the Dail Eireann was convened this morning Eamon De Valera rose and placed his resignation as president of the Irish republic formally before the house.

Michael Collins, one of the leaders in support of the Irish treaty which was ratified Saturday over De Valera's opposition, said that no one in the Dail wished to be put in the position of opposing President De Valera.

He pointed out that the Dail was now faced with the problem of taking over the government from the British and suggested the formation of a committee whose members would be chosen from both sides of the controversy to keep peace. Work and not talk was now required, he added.

RE-ELECTION ASKED
Mrs. Thomas J. Clarke moved the re-election of De Valera as president of the republic. Liam Mellows seconded the motion.

Arthur Griffith, speaking after Collins had concluded, said the question of the treaty had been constitutionally settled and that there was nothing to prevent its terms being carried out.

After the renomination of De Valera for the presidency, Michael Collins, addressing the Dail, said he would not object to the re-election of President De Valera, but that if De Valera were re-elected the Dail would be the laughing stock of the world.

Miss Mary MacSwiney was next to speak on the re-election question. "We must carry on the republican government until it is disestablished by the Irish people," she said.

She opposed the joint commission proposed by Collins.

DR. VANCE QUINN
George Gavan Duffy demanded that De Valera tell the Dail what his policy would be if he were re-elected.

De Valera replied that the republic must continue until the people, by an election, disestablished it. He was quite ready during the interval, he said, to maintain independence of Ireland. He called the treaty only "a vague promise."

The Dail must continue, he declared, until the people could decide between the treaty and the Irish republic. He challenged the supporters of the treaty to an election after the treaty was put into operation.

De Valera said that if he were re-elected no effort of his would be made to obtain a joint cabinet.

"I don't want the office at all," he declared. Then looking at Griffith and Collins, he added "you have a majority with your sixty-four votes. Elect your own president."

A spirited fight followed between William Cosgrave, a strong advocate of the treaty, and De Valera.

VICTIM OF CRASH IN FRANCE

U. S. ASSET PUT AT $50,000,000,000

Wealth of Country Reported by Currency Comptroller

WORLD'S FINANCIAL GIANT

May Play Important Role at Economic Parley

WASHINGTON—(By United Press)—America is the unchallenged Goliath of the financial world, the annual report of D. R. Crissinger, comptroller of the currency, made public today, showed.

From a heavy debtor nation in 1914, she has emerged the greatest creditor nation in the world's history. Her banking power during the intervening seven years, has increased nearly 85 per cent and her 31,200 banks can marshal cash and credits estimated at more than $48,200,000,000.

Added to this is more than $1,500,000,000 in the banks of her island possessions, thus giving the United States a banking asset of nearly $50,000,000,000.

These startling governmental figures clearly show the important role the United States would play if it agrees to active participation in the world economic conference at Geneva next March.

The administration now is considering the official invitation to the conference with indications that it will offer to participate under certain conditions.

From the pre-war days to the present time, an unprecedented flow of gold has poured into the United States, Crissinger said. Gold in this country totals more than $3,000,000,000, or approximately one-third of the entire supply of the world.

Crissinger credits the federal reserve system with saving the United States from disaster during the last six years. The system acted as the "pneumatic cushion" during the period of deflation and reaction following the world-wide expansion of credits, Crissinger said, enabling the United States to proceed farther and with less discomfort on the road to normal conditions than any other great power.

Many Fall Victim to Poison Liquor in Cleveland

CLEVELAND—(By United Press)—With the toll of death and illness due to poison liquor mounting steadily, preparations were being made today for a determined drive to stamp out the illegal sale here.

Police captains were shaping forces to rid their individual precincts of bootlegging, following an ultimatum from Police Chief Graul. A secret army of women was being mobilized to get evidence on the liquor traffic in Cleveland.

Health Commissioner Rockwood in his annual report, said 42 deaths were caused from alcoholism in Cleveland last year.

Already, this year one death has resulted.

Mrs. Florence Richard will have charge of women's organization work. One of her principal aides will be Dr. Amy A. Kaukonen, of Fairport, the first woman mayor in Ohio. Mayor Kaukonen stages personal raids to clean up the illegal sale of liquor in Fairport.

BOY SKATES TO HIS DEATH WHILE PLAYING HOCKEY

PERRYSBURG, O.—Carl Cousino, 15, skated into open water in the Maumee river here late Sunday afternoon and was drowned.

Cousino with several other boys were playing ice hockey along the shore, where the ice was of good thickness, when the ball was driven toward the center of the river. In attempting to recover the ball Cousino skated into open water and drowned before aid could reach him.

HARVEY INJURED IN AUTO WRECK

U. S. Ambassador Hurt in Accident at Cannes, France

AXLE OF MACHINE BREAKS

Rushed to His Hotel in Dazed Condition

CANNES, France—(By Associated Press)—George Harvey, American Ambassador to Great Britain, narrowly escaped death here today in an automobile accident. Accompanied by Richard Crane, former American minister to Czechoslovakia, in whose car he was riding, and Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, Ambassador Harvey was on his way for a round of golf.

The axle of the machine broke and Harvey was thrown out, landing heavily on the road. He was able to arise, but was rushed back to his hotel in a dazed condition.

Physicians who were hurriedly summoned, found him suffering from shock and from severe bruises on his back where he struck the road. His dazed condition after the accident lasted more than an hour.

The physicians expressed the opinion that he would be confined to his bed for several days and said he should not attempt to attend to any of his duties.

Crane was uninjured. Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain visited the hotel in person to make inquiries.

It was understood that Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador at Paris, would replace Ambassador Harvey at the council meeting until Harvey had sufficiently recovered to attend the sitting. Ambassador Herrick was informed of the situation in a telephone message to Beaulieu where he was spending a vacation and he hurried to Cannes by automobile.

ASKS SUBSTITUTE
WASHINGTON—(By Associated Press)—Ambassador Harvey called the state department today for a meeting that he had been only slightly injured in an automobile accident, but requested that Ambassador Herrick at Paris be temporarily assigned as American observer at the Cannes conference in his place.

"PROSPERITY" IS CHOSEN FILM

Wilkesbarre Picture at C. C. Annual Banquet

"Prosperity," a two-reel film made by the Wilkesbarre chamber of commerce, has been chosen as the production to be shown at the annual banquet meeting of the Lima Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday evening at the Elks temple.

The film has been selected because of its thorough explanation of chamber of commerce work and what that body means to city government.

Reservations for the annual banquet meeting continued coming in Monday. It is anticipated the list will be filled before its closing Tuesday.

An extended program has been arranged for City Manager C. A. Bingham, members of the city commission and six business men, new in Lima, who will be guests of honor. The six who will be introduced are: J. Norman Claypool, of the Lima Woolen Mills, Inc.; W. A. Hersch, United Woolen Mills company; Fred A. Ash, president of the Vapo Stove company; J. H. Evansman, Piggy Wiggly Store; W. Ioor, president of the National Automatic company and W. F. Henderson, Crane company.

J. C. McDOWELL GOES ON TRIAL AGAIN TOMORROW

TOLEDO.—The second trial of Jesse C. McDowell, Pittsburgh millionaire oil man, charged with using the mails to defraud, will begin in federal court here tomorrow. The first trial of the case ended abruptly in October when one of the jurors died.

McDowell is alleged to have defrauded the Henry Doherty interests of nearly a million dollars through the sale of mineral lands while acting as purchasing agent for the company.

DESPITE DEPRESSION, TAXPAYING IS HEAVY

Neither industrial depression nor lack of money has struck Allen County and Lima. It daily occurs in the office of H. B. Botkins, county treasurer, is a criterion by which to judge.

Heavy tax paying has been ruled since the books were opened December 1. Botkins says the amount paid in has far exceeded that of past years.

"Doesn't look as if there was any lack of money around here," Botkins said, as he viewed the long line of tax-payers, anxious to settle with the county.

Taxes will be received up to January 30, Botkins announces.

EIGHT CHURCH ELDERS POISONED IN MISTAKE OF VARNISH FOR WINE

GAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Eight elders of the Seventh Reformed church here, who drank varnish stain which was mistaken for sacramental wine, were in a serious condition today.

Services in the church yesterday morning came to an abrupt end and the congregation was thrown into confusion when John Riewald, an elder of the church, toppled over unconscious, after sipping the supposed sacramental wine. Seven other communicants collapsed in rapid succession.

It was reported that a new elder took the varnish from the church storehouse, believing it to be wine.

NAVAL HOLIDAY TO LAST 15 YEARS

Period Extended as Incorporated in the Treaty

DRAFT OF PACT COMPLETED

Ready for Submission to Full Conference

WASHINGTON—(By United Press)—The five great powers are to bind themselves to a program of naval reduction and limitation for 15 years by the terms of the naval limitation treaty, it was learned today.

The duration of the treaty as completed by the naval experts, is 15 years instead of the ten-year period of the naval holiday, it was said. This is to give the naval holiday sufficient time to be put into practice effect, it was explained, and to allow the naval establishment of the powers to be put on the replacement tonnage ratio basis, which has been agreed upon, after the conclusion of the holiday.

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press)—Limitation of development or use of aircraft is impossible at this time, the five power armament committee of the Washington conference decided today. It adopted a resolution, however, providing for an international commission to study the aircraft question with a view to future limitation.

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press)—The sub-committee draft of the five power naval limitation treaty had been virtually completed today by the naval experts and the full naval committee was prepared to begin discussion of the final draft of the pact probably later in the day or tomorrow.

As the treaty neared this stage the most generally debated question appeared to be whether an attempt should be made to lay down a specific definition of a merchant vessel as hearing on the relation of the armament of such craft to the proposed limitation of auxiliary naval craft to ten thousand tons and also the banning of submarines as commerce destroyers.

VIEWES DIFFER
Although it was the original intention of the American delegation, at least as indicated by Root in the full committee sessions not to attempt to define a merchant ship beyond the definitions of international law, some of the delegates are known to be making a particular study of the question and to regard it as one that cannot be passed over. The Italians, Japanese and French all are said to feel that failure to place restrictions on the armament of merchantmen not only might vitiate the project to limit the individual tonnage of auxiliary war craft but also might result in a great disadvantage to nations with small merchant fleets.

BRITISH CONTENTION
The British delegation on the other hand, having given warning at the time of failure of the proposal for limitation of submarine tonnage and of the size of submarines that in these circumstances it could not consent to any restriction of potential anti-submarine forces, was said to be prepared to bring the question before the full committee if necessary, and to argue that merchant ships may carry guns without becoming auxiliary war vessels and thus subject to attack without warning by submarines.

SHANTUNG QUESTION
Although the Shantung controversy remains in deadlock, there was evident in both the American and British groups today a belief that the mediation of Secretary Hughes and Arthur J. Balfour was almost certain to bring the Japanese and Chinese together again on this long discussed issue. In American quarters hope was expressed for an agreement during the week.

PEPPER SUCCEEDS PENROSE

Philadelphia Lawyer Appointed By Governor Sproul

PHILADELPHIA.—(By Associated Press)—George Wharton Pepper, Philadelphia lawyer, was appointed United States senator by Governor Sproul today to succeed the late Boies Penrose. Under the law the appointment stands until a successor is selected at the November election to fill the unexpired Penrose term, ending in 1927.

George Wharton Pepper is not unknown to many members of the senate. During the time the Versailles treaty was under consideration, Pepper attracted wide attention by opposing the ratification of the league of nations covenant in joint debate on the public platform with Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, in this city, and with Senator Pomerene of Ohio, in Indianapolis.

Like Boies Penrose, Pepper comes from an old Philadelphia family. He will be 55 years old on March 16. He was educated in private schools and was graduated in 1887 from the University of Pennsylvania, of which he is now a trustee, and from the law department two years later. He has had wide experience in the civil practice of law.

The new senator is widely known in many activities but up to this time he has declined all offers of partisan public office. During the World War he was a member of the council of national defense and of the Pennsylvania public safety committee, and was also a member of the commission to revise the state constitution.

BANG! AXE FALLS

Police Order Causes Cutting of Forces at Bars

Between sixty and seventy-five attaches of sarsaparilla bars and cigar stores received pink slips in envelopes telling them they would be on forced vacation, starting Monday.

Reduction in working forces at the emporiums catering to pleasure was the result of Chief Dawson's ultimatum against dominoes. This game was all that was left, except pool and billiards and with its elimination, less attendants were needed.

The order of the new Administration was also phoned the Elks Home, members of that organization stated, but the House committee feels that a private club cannot be regulated by the police, so long as it is conducted orderly. No orders were issued to Lima Club or Knights of Columbus, as far as members had learned.

COLUMBUS.—W. Albert Davis, state director of finance, is planning a survey of state administrative departments which may cost the jobs of some 100 inspectors and minor appointees, it was learned today.

Commerce Director Phipps has recommended to Davis that a considerable number of jobs in various departments can be consolidated with a large saving to the state in salaries and expense money.

No action has been taken on the recommendation, but Director Davis today said the survey would be made with a view to coordinating the activities of inspectors and minor appointees in various departments.

"There is no question but that duties of employees in several of the departments overlap," said Davis, "and that by a consolidation of the duties a material saving could be made. I expect to have a survey made to determine to what extent this can be done."

CASE RE-OPENED
WASHINGTON.—The supreme court today ordered the re-argument of the case brought by the government against the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific railroad companies. The case involves the question of the ownership and control of the Central Pacific by the Southern Pacific. The case was set for argument on March 13.

WOMAN IS STRUCK BY INTRUDER

Carnival of Thefts Reported From North Side

JEWELRY, MONEY, CLOTHES

Marauders Frightened Away From Three Places

Thieves were successful in obtaining entrance to six homes located in the North end of Lima, Sunday night and early Monday, according to reports made to the police department Monday. In several instances the intruders were frightened away by occupants.

Chief of Police M. P. Dawson issued a sweeping warning to householders Monday to be very careful to lock doors and windows of their homes when away, or prior to retiring for the night.

In every instance reported Sunday night, entrance was made thru a door or window and in a majority of cases they were unlocked. The value of property stolen is not large.

WOMAN STRUCK BY ROBBER

Three men in a Ford car stopped at the home of John Cunningham, 616 N. West-st., shortly after day-break Monday. One, a man wearing a light suit, cap and red sweater entered the front door. He was discovered by Mrs. Cunningham. She demanded to know who he was. The man seized a chair and struck her. He escaped with a pair of gold rimmed glasses.

A pair of trousers valued at $8, and $10 in money were taken from the home of Harry Macdonald, street car man, 914 N. West-st., by a burglar who worked without disturbing members of the household. An open front door showed his means of entrance and exit.

Mrs. Rose Nichols, 1045 N. Main-st., raised a window in a bed chamber at her home between 5 and 6 o'clock Monday morning. Members of the household were up and she had gone in to make the bed. A coat and vest and watch and chain, property of Harry Nichols, were in the room. She left and returned a few minutes later.

The widow had been raised high and the curtain was pulled outside the window. She went to the window to adjust it and discovered the clothing lying in the yard below. The watch and chain, valued at $50, were missing.

NIGHT PROWLER IS SEEN

A mysterious housebreaker, described as 20 years old, wearing a brown suit and cap, was frightened away from three houses.

He was first seen at the home of H. J. Gunn, 509 N. Elizabeth-st., early Sunday night. The man entered through a window, but aroused occupants moving about and was frightened away.

S. J. Noonan, 647 N. Main-st., reported to police that a man answering the same description entered his house, but decamped quickly when he overheard a chair.

The same man is believed to have broken a window glass trying to get into the residence of Thomas Mitchell, 70 N. West-st. He was frightened away.

Police believe that with one exception the robberies are the work of the same man.

Police thwarted an alleged attempt to rob Jack Fellows' cigar store, S. Main and Vine-sts., Sunday morning when they arrested Harry Clark, 19, of 797 Greenlawn-ay, and Clyde Vermer, 17. The two had not been arraigned Monday noon.

OKUMA NOT DEAD

Reports of Former Japanese Premier's Demise Incorrect

TOKIO.—(By United Press)—Although officially pronounced dead, Marquis Okuma still lives.

The former Japanese premier, decorated after the announcement of his death with the highest honors Japan reserves for her deceased heroes, today was reported by his physician to be "wriggling on death." From time to time, his pulse ceases altogether.

During one of the periods when his pulse ceased to beat, members of his family made formal announcement that the Marquis had died. This was done last Friday, but three days later the statesman's heart still beats faintly.

CHANGES HIS MIND, ACCEPTS $100,000 LEGACY

NEW YORK.—Charles Garland, young New England idealist, who has accepted the paternal legacy of $100,000 which he spurned a year ago, was led to change his mind by insistent pressure from his wife and consideration of their one year old daughter.

This view was expressed today by Henry D. Tudor, trustee of the father's estate in confirming reports that Charles and his brother Hamilton, of North Carver, Mass., had received recently equal shares they previously refused.

In declining his inheritance, Charles condemned a system which starved thousands while hundreds were stuffed.

DIDN'T BUY SEAT, SAYS NEWBERRY

Senator Makes Sweeping Declaration of Innocence

ABSENT DURING CAMPAIGN

No Money Spent by Him, He Tells the Senate

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — A sweeping declaration of his innocence was made by Senator Newberry, Republican, Michigan, today in the senate.

Taking the floor for his own defense in the matter of proceedings brought by Henry Ford, the defeated Democratic candidate, Senator Newberry emphatically denied personal knowledge of the collection or expenditure of the large campaign fund spent in his behalf.

"As God is my witness, I am not to this day aware of any collection of money, in connection with either the primary campaign or the general election of 1918, in the state of Michigan," said Senator Newberry. "A single act that was, or is, in any way unlawful, dishonorable, or corrupt, and this I say to the senate of the United States without reservation or qualification."

WILL ANSWER QUESTIONS

"Upon these facts, as I then believed them to be, and as I now believe them to be, I shall abide the result with a clear conscience," Newberry added in a dramatic conclusion of his prepared address. His colleague, Senator Townsend, announced last Saturday, that Newberry would submit to questioning by senators but not to heckling or cross-examination.

TIME TO SPEAK

"I cannot remain silent any longer during the consideration of my right to represent the state of Michigan as one of its senators," he said. "I did not volunteer to appear before the committee of the senate which took testimony in this matter because I really had no information that would assist in the investigation of charges filed by my opponent. It seems to me that the time has come to speak, because my silence might be misunderstood by my friends."

"On the sixth day of June, 1917, I was commissioned a lieutenant-colonel in the United States army and on July 23, 1917, was assigned to the Brooklyn navy yard. From that day, July 23, 1917, until after the signing of the armistice, November 11, 1918, I was never in Michigan on a single hour. * * * The primary election and the general election of 1918 occurred during my absence from the state of Michigan."

DIDN'T SOLICIT

"I did not solicit or expend, directly or indirectly, one single dollar in the campaign for senator in Michigan in 1918, nor did I know of the contributions made until afterwards. The two statements which I made under oath to the senate are absolutely and wholly true. 'The first is dated August 14, 1918, and, omitting the printed form with which you are all familiar, and to which I sincerely subscribed, I wrote in my own hand as follows:

"The campaign for my nomination for United States senator has been voluntarily conducted by my friends in Michigan. I have taken no part in it whatever and no contributions or expenditures have been made with my knowledge or consent."

"The second statement, August 28, 1918, with the same omission, and in addition to the printed form to which I sincerely subscribed, I wrote with my own hand as follows, under the heading of 'contributions': 'none with my knowledge and consent.' And under the heading of 'disbursements': 'none with my knowledge and consent.' I have read the general public statement of Paul H. King concerning expenditures made by a voluntary committee of friends, but these were made without my knowledge or consent."

"I had not the slightest intention of misleading anyone in making this statement, nor do I believe any fair-minded man was in the least deceived thereby."

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

"In my statement filed with the secretary of the senate, I did call attention to the report of the campaign committee at Detroit, which report is called for by the Michigan law, and includes a full statement of receipts and disbursements as reported by the treasurer of that committee."

"I know that a campaign publicity was being extensively carried on and I realized that such a campaign must cost a considerable sum of money, but I did not have the faintest idea as to the amount of money that actually was expended until after the report was made public. The cost of the campaign was about $125,000, according to the report, and when I learned of this I was once again filled with astonishment and regret."

"I can say that I regret exceedingly the fact that so large an amount of money was necessarily expended. I can further say that in the acquisition of the money, in the solicitation of that money, description of that money in the use of that money I had nothing whatever to do, not even the amount of it."

"It is and always has been my understanding that, insofar as the primary election in Michigan is concerned, if the cost is not borne by the candidate himself, the campaign must be carried out by the people. I therefore assumed from the start and still believe that the law was strictly obeyed by this independent committee which carried the campaign for my election in 1918."

As to the campaign fund the question of its acquisition, or of its expenditure, was never called to my attention by anyone connected with me or with the money was spent with my knowledge or consent. I endeavored to convey the same impression which I now endeavor to make clearly, that as for myself, I was spending no money, and that I knew nothing of the expenditures of money in the campaign. I want to make this point just as strong as I am able to do, because it has been hinted that money which was contributed without my knowledge or consent, by relatives and friends of mine was subsequently

In addition, 15 prizes of two tickets to see "Over The Hill" will be awarded.

In some way, directly or indirectly, I am or was to be repaid by me. There is not even a shadow of truth or the slightest foundation for any such statement. I did not know what amounts were given to the campaign. I did not know by whom these amounts were given. I did not know either their source, their amount or their use. I have never agreed, either directly or indirectly to repay, or in any way to reimburse such contributions, nor have I directly or indirectly repaid or reimbursed such contributions. I do have never made an agreement to do so nor have I any intention of so doing."

"I can add nothing to this statement to which the senate with so much patience and courtesy has listened. It presents fully and frankly all the facts in the case as I know them to be."

TOLEDO APPEALS COURT

JUDGES HEAR REVIEW OF BOOSE ALIMONY SUIT HERE

Alimony decision in the case of Mrs. Frances Robinson Boose against her husband, Roger Boose, was reviewed by attorneys in court of appeals, Monday.

St. S. Richards, C. E. Chittenden and R. H. Kincaid, judges of the Toledo district appellate court, heard the arguments, having been brought to Lima by the local court for the hearing.

Mrs. Boose did not come from her home in Parkersburg, West Va., for the hearing. She was represented in court by her attorneys and relatives. But few persons heard the arguments, aside from court attendances.

Mrs. Boose's attorneys scoffed at a proposed reconciliation of the couple, in their arguments to the court. Boose was ordered to pay his wife $10 a month for support of herself and their son, Billy, less than a year old. He declared the amount exorbitant and appealed the case to higher court. Boose was also ordered to pay certain bills in connection with birth of his child.

Mrs. Boose charged cruelty at the trial. Much of the sensational testimony which she gave at that time was rehearsed for the benefit of Toledo judges Monday. The case was continued until Monday afternoon.

NEW KNOXVILLE WOMAN

COUGHS UP DEAD LIZARD

ST. MAIRYS—Torture or years endured by Mrs. Fred Kettler, New Knoxville, near here, was relieved a few days ago when she was attacked by a coughing fit, while fanning clothing. A lizard, four inches in length, dead, was expelled. Served with violent nausea, Mrs. Kettler suffered a fit of vomiting and threw up the body of the lizard. The report is verified for Mrs. Kettler's husband and her brother, Dan H. Schneider of this city.

The reptile had only one leg. It is supposed Mrs. Kettler swallowed the lizard with water years ago. It grew to a length of four inches and then died. Its head is broader than the body.

LARGE GREY WOLF ROAMS

VAN WERT-CO TERRITORY

VAN WERT—A large grey timber wolf, roaming wild in this county, has struck fear to the hearts of the timid and mothers are keeping their little ones under the parental roof closely at night.

Night ferocity on her houses are reported from different parts of the county. Feathers and mangled carcasses of fowls are more evidence of the presence of a marauding animal.

FINE WEATHER IS TO CONTINUE

Appreciation may be an obsolete trait with most folks, but the weather maker sure deserves the greatest thanks of the populace generally for the kind and character of conditions doled out recently.

We have been well favored, with sunshine and dry conditions underfoot. Forecast for tonight and Tuesday runs along the same line—fair and no change in temperature. The situation is an invitation to spend as much time as possible in the open, advantageously bracing air and the generally desirable conditions.

DEMANDS SUNDAY HEARING; MAYOR IS ACCOMMODATING

Grant Bogart, who took up his duties as mayor of Columbus Grove the first of the year, presided at his first trial in police court Sunday.

Charles Neill, 20, was arrested Saturday night at a public dance, charged with being drunk and disorderly. William Anderson, marshal, who made the arrest, lodged him in city prison.

Neill demanded to have his usual Sunday freedom when the sun rose Sunday. He communicated to the mayor the fact he wanted an immediate hearing. The mayor obliged him. A big crowd of men and boys assembled in police court.

Neill was given a fine of $5 and costs, which he paid and was released. Neill was in the Allen-co jail over Christmas, held on charge of stealing a shotgun, of which charge he was later freed.

MRS. MARY BOCKEY SEEKS

AN ALLOWANCE OF $2,000

Mrs. Mary Bockey, widow of the late Matthias Bockey, Marion-tp, has appealed to common pleas court for increased allowance. Her husband gave her $1,000 by his will for sustenance the first year after his death.

Mrs. Bockey says this amount is not sufficient for her support, as no articles or provisions of food were left to be set apart for her. She asks for an additional $1,000.

In a hearing in probate court, decided on December 7, last, J. H. Hamilton, probate judge awarded her $1,800 for support. Not satisfied with this amount, Mrs. Bockey appealed the case to common pleas court.

TOM COLLINS IS SUMMONED

Representative Citizen of Lima Pays Debt of Nature

Thomas A. Collins, 58, former member and president of city council, insurance agent, active church worker and man of affairs, died at his home, 216 W. McKibbin-st., Sunday at 9:10 p. m. Death followed an illness of a week, due to leakage of the heart.

Since September 1, Collins had been failing in health. It was about that time he entered St. Rita's hospital for treatment. The past week he had been confined to his bed.

Perhaps there is no better known man in Lima than Thomas A. Collins. For the past 35 or 40 years he has resided in the city, always on the north side and not far distant from the residence where he died. He took an active interest in ward and city politics and was a leader in his section of the city.

He was first elected to city council and served six years. He was later again elected to that body, serving four years.

For fifteen years he was circulation manager of the Times-Democrat. It was in this capacity he came in touch with people of Lima and the county, where he enjoyed a wide acquaintance.

He was superintendent of the general delivery department of the Lima post-office, under the late George H. Neely. Later he entered the insurance and real estate business, in which he has been equally as successful as in other lines of business endeavor. Collins had offices in the bank building. Sixteen years of his life has been spent in the insurance business.

He was a member of St. Rose Catholic church and was active in the work of the various departments. When St. Gerard's Catholic church was established here, he purchased the land and did much to get the parish on a firm footing.

Collins was connected with Lima lodge of Elks, Knights of Columbus, lodge of Moose and the Holy Name society of St. Rose. He was a director in the South Side Building and Loan association.

Besides the widow, he is survived by two young grandchildren, Jean M. Broome and Robert C. Broome, who reside at the Collins home.

Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at St. Rose Catholic church. Hour for the services has not been decided upon. Interment will be at Gethsemani.

TWO WOMEN SUFFRAGE

CASES ARE POSTPONED

WASHINGTON—Two cases challenging the constitutionality of the national women's suffrage amendment which were on the calendar for argument in the supreme court Sunday were postponed until January 20. In one case the government asked postponement and in the other counsel for the opponents of the amendment sought to have the case go over.

One case is brought against the secretary of state and questions the constitutionality of the ratification of the amendment. The other case is based on the ground that the people only can extend or curtail suffrage and that the amendment was without effect because it was not submitted to the people for ratification, but was ratified by the legislatures of the states.

DIVISION OF JOBS DEMANDED

Germany's Unemployed Seek to Share With Employed

BERLIN.—(By Associated Press.) —The unemployed throughout Germany are demanding a division of work with the regularly employed and a larger allowance from the municipalities and the labor unions.

They have become so insistent and demonstrations and clashes between the employed and the jobless so frequent that representatives of the central government, the labor organizations, and the municipalities are trying to find a method of dealing with the situation.

Political agitators have taken advantage of the situation to urge a "red revolt" against employers. This attitude of the radicals has caused sharp discussion even among the ranks of labor.

The government is planning the establishment of employment bureaus throughout the country, while the municipalities and the labor councils are canvassing the industries in the hope that jobs may be found for all.

The German Housewives League is trying to aid unemployed married men by placing their wives in positions to earn a little money "when not engaged in housework."

Low earning power of workmen and high prices has popularized the movement among women to share the responsibility of supporting the family.

GARFORD COMPANY TRIES

OUT MOTOR PASSENGER CAR BUILT FOR USE IN DETROIT

An innovation in transportation methods was introduced in Lima Monday when the Garford Motor Truck company sent out on a trial run a 26-passenger motor bus of the pay-as-you-enter type, designed for a transportation company of Detroit.

Loaded with department heads and officials of the plant, the truck made a tour of downtown streets. Considerable attention was caused by the large bus thrusting its trips. It is painted dark green.

The interior is fitted with leather upholstered seats, finished in brass, a car length rubber mat down the center aisle, and fare boxes at the front and rear. The bus is ventilated at each end. The driver occupies a closed glass compartment.

The motors used will develop 22 horsepower, sufficient to propel the bus, loaded, at a 20-mile an hour speed.

Two of the new cars will be delivered in Detroit Saturday, D. D. McPherson, superintendent of the Garford plant, said.

CHURCH INTEREST GROWS

Religious Phase of Education Greatly Magnified

C H I C A G O.—(By Associated Press.)—There never was a time in the history of American Education when the religious phase of education was so greatly magnified as at the present moment. R. L. Kelly, executive secretary of the Council of Church Boards of Education told that body in his annual report here today.

"This interest in what is termed Christian education and this desire on the part of our people generally that the entire system of American education be permeated with the religious motive is found in every type of institution, tax-supported as well as denominational and independent in the North and the South and the East and the West," his report said.

"The Boards of Education which are responsible for a majority of the universities and colleges of the United States are now conducting campaigns for endowments aggregating in the three hundred million dollars and there is every indication in spite of the financial depression that practically every one of these campaigns will be successful," the report continued.

"During the year the Congressional Foundation for Education, which it is expected will assume the same relationship to the Congressional Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has conducted a campaign of education which culminated in the amazing result of the sum of nineteen million dollars being pledged for their institutions in spite of the staggering paralytic of the price of cotton."

"On the whole, people are aroused as never before as to the needs of the religious traditions of American Education being maintained and the outlook is very hopeful."

THEFT ADMITTED

STERLING, II.—(By Associated Press.)—State examiners checking the accounts of the First State Bank of Lyndon, whose cashier, Arthur Buzzell, mysteriously disappeared Thursday night, today refused to discuss the amount of the shortage in the bank's funds, which they admit exists, but persons in close touch with the files of the institution state the shortage probably will reach $50,000.

The big safe at the bank which had withstood all previous efforts to open it, has finally been opened. It was then learned that the time lock had been set for 48 hours by the cashier before he closed it Thursday afternoon. Inside the safe a note was found, addressed to "Whom It May Concern." In this note Buzzell said, "I exonerate the president and all directors of blame. I am alone guilty of it all. I took the money and used it."

Officials of the bank state the alleged peculations of the bank had been going on for a number of months.

CITY MANAGER MAKES AN

INVESTIGATION OF DANCE HALLS; ACTION EXPECTED

Investigation of Lima dance halls, made by City Manager Bingham, Saturday night, may result in the closing of one or more places, it is believed.

Bingham refused to outline his course of action Monday. It was learned, however, that one place in particular had been investigated. Instructions were given to issue no more permits to the manager.

Manager Bingham may act on report made by Chief M. F. Dawson, who declared Monday he was informed drinking featured certain dances and obscenity language used by youths.

No instructions to close the place under fire had been received up to noon Monday by police.

BOTTLED IN BOND

How much bottled-in-bond whisky remains stored in warehouses throughout the country? About 33,000,000 gallons, answers Millard F. West, deputy commissioner of internal revenue.

Rum bounds will figure out that this is 2,432,000,000 drinks or 23 for every man, woman and child in America.

It seems a lot.

But warehouse stocks of whisky 18 months ago were 50,000,000 gallons, compared with 38,000,000 gallons now.

The complete exit of John Barleycorn, except in doctor's prescriptions, is just a matter of arithmetic.

In a very few years pure whisky, sold outside the law, will be worth $100 a quart. There'll be plenty of fools who'll pay that.

PURE aged whisky nears extinction. Poison circulates in its place. Interesting days for the student of criminology.

You read that the mortality among prohibition enforcement officials along the Mexican border is higher than among the American fighting forces that saw action in France.

Liquor officials, watching for smugglers from Canada, at Rouse's Point, N. Y., report nonchalantly that pistol battles with rum-runners are almost every-day occurrences. "Most if not all, of the bootleggers carry automatic pistols."

Rich men's cellar stocks are looted. So are bonded warehouses. Forgers turn out fake withdrawal permits. Counterfeiters duplicate internal revenue stamps by the hundreds of thousands. The bootleg traffic has attracted to it an unprecedented organization of dangerous criminals.

THE spasm of crime, accompanying the bootleg traffic, does not necessarily mean that prohibition is going to be a failure in the long run.

The net will tighten in time. State legislatures may have to amend laws, make it a death penalty to sell wood alcohol and other poisons disguised as drinkables.

What prohibition needs most is realization by all citizens that, when they buy liquor illicitly, they are aiding and abetting a super-criminal organization.

SERVICE UNAPPRECIATED

RETRIBUTIONS of judges, built as they are on divine teachings for the most part, stress the fact that appreciation is one of the desirable rewards of service. But they warn those coming under the spell of the teachings of the order, to expect it not. Otherwise, in most cases, there will be disappointment.

Makers of rituals, wise in their day, realize for the most part of the way in this life, those who expect appreciation, find the path of desire exceedingly rough and thorny. Therefore they advantage the opportunity to voice a warning against expecting it.

All of us, in some way or another, are constantly making sacrifices. It is one of the penalties of life. There is a certain satisfaction in it, too, that cannot be attained in any other manner. Some of the greatest characters in history are those who laid down their lives, sacrificed their all for others. They faced ignominy as the reward of sacrifice.

Remember the history of Christopher Columbus, of Joan of Arc and many others of equally tragic recollection? And greater than all of these as an outstanding type of victim of lack of appreciation is the Saviour of the world Himself, who suffered death as a reward for bringing to mankind the means of redemption.

A member of Lima city council who served during the past two years, expressing happiness in being permitted to lay down the duties that devolved upon him as such an official, counted up the cost to himself. Assembling that the time given to public affairs made inroads on his own private business, this particular councilman emphatically stated he had suffered a loss, in dollars and cents, of not less than $2,000.

His sacrifice is looked upon as a duty as a citizen. He did not expect appreciation and not receiving it, he is not disappointed. This instance is only one of many, developing every day.

1921 CROPS

THE chief crops raised by American farmers in 1921 were worth $5,675,377,000, says final government report.

That is $3,400,000,000 less than the 1920 crops, and $8,000,000,000 less than the crops of 1919.

That "less" explains a lot about business depression. It shows how much the farmers' ability to purchase manufactured products has been reduced.

REVEALED

THE first monument to the boll weevil—cotton destroyer—is unveiled at Enterprise, Ala. It is a bronze fountain, in the business district, with the tablet reading: "In profound appreciation of the boll weevil." etc.

The idea is, that the boll weevil, by its ravaging the cotton crop, is turning the one-crop south into a self-supporting agricultural country.

Crop diversification is the farmer's insurance against failure.

Miss Fawn Lippincott has an uncle that's lived in Muncie, Indiana, almost a month and has never seen the inside of a courtroom. Judge Bentley's team scared at Muncie Monday, who's said to be the purest woman in the suffrage movement.

WITH APOLOGIES
my head aching with too much thought I think last night. And I into my black silk camelote suit, which is handsome, and I out of doors a little to shew it off.
To the office where greeted by Roy Greer, the merchant prince, and in discourse found him optimistic, having just bet many new suits and dresses for the fair ladies hereabouts. And also came Fred Dorries, writhing in the throes of worries over his Rotary banquet, but was quieted much before quitting.
To dinner at Yak's and Japh's new heavey, below my old home in the El-Ektron, where years ago when I asked Dr. Homer Bennett how much the rent would be, and he said $40. I moving in, learned it was $10 a month, not a year, but this after we were well in and couldn't well get out.
And dining there, carrying trays and enjoying the work, were many descendants of Colonial names; P. L.'s of times when hired girls grabbed a $2-a-week job and did the washing; and butchers gave away calves livers and soup bones to customers. And many dining in family. Greeted gayly as we sat by J. L. Rose, the specialist, and Doc Marchbanks I think last night. And came Geo. McHaffey, the banker, and the motif of the trays and I, for my own, seemed to be country sausage and French fried.
Down the Avenue and met with Jim Tiltonson, the pedometer professor and bravely spoke to Charlie Gambell, of Argonne exposures. Passed a retired divine who, poor man, always predicted Heaven was a place where no one dressed up, took a bath, read a novel or set tobacco on fire. Yet we never loved him. And to the office to read a divorce petition wherein the wife charged hubby with habitual drunkenness for more than three years but wonder where he got a stock to last so long.
Find letter from friends abroad writing me to come and see an old friend banged in Charleston, but must decline tho it seems pity this boy of college days must dangle out, when he was such a fovy dancer; and I am sorry, and hope he will go where they smoke and are not smoked. So home to read "If Winter Comes," and learn why Judge Hughes was afraid to use the name Mabel to his good wife. So to bed.

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

SCHICK TEST.

When the discovery of the diphtheria antitoxin was made people thought that the fight against this disease had been won. It was subsequently found, however, that the antitoxin must be administered at a very early stage, he used with effect.

Dr. Schick, after a long series of experiments, finally evolved a test which shows whether a given individual is susceptible to diphtheria or not. We are now able to ascertain to a nicety that practically 50 per cent of the new born, 50 to 60 per cent of the children and 90 per cent of the adults are naturally immune from the disease.

This discovery threw a new light on the spread of the disease and explained why only certain persons take diphtheria even when exposed to it. It shows whether a person has sufficient antitoxin in his blood to overcome an infection with diphtheria bacilli.
The test is made by injecting a small amount of diphtheria toxin into the skin. If the blood of the individual tested contains diphtheria antitoxin, there will be no apparent result, or the toxin is at once neutralized by the antitoxin.
The absence of a reaction, therefore, signifies the presence of antitoxin in the individual's blood, showing he is immune to diphtheria. Such persons, however, may become carriers of the disease. If, however, there is a reaction to the Schick test, it indicates that such persons are susceptible to diphtheria. They should take diphtheria antitoxin. It would be well for everyone to make sure that he is immune to diphtheria. Consult your physician and ask him to apply the Schick test. Schools and communities all over the nation are thus helping to battle the disease. It is the only way effectually to blot it out.

SALAD DRESSINGS

There is no salad that is nicer to serve with the winter dinner than a head lettuce salad. The dressing may be a plain French dressing, Russian, Thousand Island or Roquefort cheese.

As to lettuce, discard all the torn outer leaves. Cut the heads in halves or quarters and let stand in very cold water for half an hour. The addition of 1 or 2 teaspoons of salt to the water is sure to draw out any little insects. Remove from water and drain. Rinse in clear cold water if salt water was used. Drain and wrap in a soft cloth. Put on ice or in a very cold place.

French dressing may be varied by a bit of minced onion, a speck of mustard or grated American cheese. Remember that French dressing is very quickly wilted lettuce. Mix the dressing at the table.

RUSSIAN DRESSING
One-half cup mayonnaise, 4 tablespoons chili sauce, 1 teaspoon vinegar, 1-8 teaspoon mustard, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon paprika.

Beat oil into mayonnaise and add remaining ingredients.

THOUSAND ISLAND DRESSING
One cup mayonnaise, 1 hard boiled egg, 4 tablespoons minced green pepper, 2 tablespoons minced onion or chives, 3 tablespoons chili sauce, 3 tablespoons vinegar, 1-4 tablespoon boiling water.

Dissolve gelatine in boiling water and add to mayonnaise. Then add remaining ingredients. Chop the egg, white and yolk, separately and add the very last thing.

THREE-MINUTE COMBINATION DRESSING
One teaspoon sugar, 1-2 teaspoon mustard, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon cayenne, 1 whole egg, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup oil, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 tablespoons minced olives, 1 tablespoon minced parsley.

Put seasoning in a bowl. Add egg, unbeaten, lemon juice and 1-4 cup oil. Beat well with a Dover beater and add remaining oil slowly. Just before serving add remaining ingredients. The chili sauce will thin the dressing slightly.

ROQUEFORT CHEESE DRESSING
Two tablespoons Roquefort cheese, 1 tablespoon neutral oil, 3 tablespoons oil, 2 dessertspoons vinegar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, dash mustard, paprika.

Put cheese in a bowl and work in oil with a fork until the mixture is creamy. Beat in vinegar and seasoning and serve at once. The vinegar should be very cold.

When making French dressing add a small piece of ice while mixing. A little chunk of ice added to the combination dressing makes the dressing stiffer.

SUSIE SMART SAYS

Dear Miss Smart:
I AM a young girl of 19 years. I am an orphan and have been forced to support myself for some time. I am weary at the end of a day's work and am beginning to tire of the continual grind. Recently I met a splendid young man. He has fallen in love with me and has asked me to marry him. I am certain that I do not love him. I value his friendship, however. I feel tempted to marry him, as I know he would be good to me and would give me a nice home. What do you think I should do?

FOR shame, "Janie!" JANIE I have continually been preaching that one should not marry unless for love, you have the audacity to ask me if it would be proper to marry a man, simply because he can give you a nice home. Perhaps the home would be nice and attractive, but don't you see it would not be a pleasant home if love did not exist within?

Probably you think you could better yourself by marrying this man, but it is best for you to continue your work rather than to marry a man whom you do not love.

It may be that you do not understand love exactly. Of course, no one does for that matter, but it is possible you may have expected some great romance. Love does not always come that way. Very, very often it is the outgrowth of a strong friendship. Until you are certain of your regard toward this man, do not be unfair to him by accepting his proposal of marriage. For you to continue your work is a far better road to happiness than a loveless marriage.

Dear Miss Smart:
(1) I am a girl 12 years old. I am five feet one inch tall and weigh 93 pounds. Is this the correct weight or should my weight be more? (2) I have auburn hair and brown eyes. What colors should I wear?

ESTELLA
(1) The average height for a girl of your age is about four feet eight inches. The average weight is about 85 pounds. However, your weight is probably better for your height. (2) Blue is your color. You will find that there will be no other color more becoming to your type than blue, in almost any shade.

Dear Miss Smart:
I have a girl friend whom I like very much. I can really have a good time with her. We are both 14 years of age, but when we go to the show or other places I am awfully ashamed of her. It is not her looks, but her actions. I do not want to tell her of this, because she will get mad. How can I let her find out that I am ashamed of her?

A READER
Of course, it would not be policy or kindness for you to tell your friend you are ashamed of her actions. I do think that with a little shrewdness on your part, however, you can help her greatly. It is only a friend who will correct another. Tell her this. Explain to her that it is because you value her friendship you wish her to try to change some of her actions. Make her understand that you really do not think she is conscious of what she is doing or how she is acting. Tell her you think too much of her to have her become the subject of idle gossip and that as her friend you wish to warn her.

She has announced her engagement to Fernando Santa Cruz, a Chilean engineer. She was acquitted of DeSaulles' murder at Mineola, N. Y., in 1918.

LETTERS TO LOVERS

How does a modern flapper feel? Having inherited Victorian traditions, I have often wondered about the modern flapper, consequently I rejoiced greatly when one of them sent me a naive letter about her feelings and experiences, and what tragedy ensued when she decided that "potting parties" do not pay.

"I don't really feel like dying but I wish I could turn back a year of my life. Just about a year ago I met him.

"I knew I am not the girl my mother would like me to be but I know right from wrong and I try to do my best. Mother would have me something like a 'prunes and prism' person. But—I am not.

"Here's my awful worry. "He isn't so very good looking. But of a nice family and just enough money. He is in school and so am I. We had been going together a good deal, having our ups and downs but always returning to each other after 'cases.'"

"Of course, I've kissed. And remember, I'm not bragging about it. I've kissed so many boys I wouldn't dare start to count them.

"But now, oh, how I wish I'd saved my lips for the one man! But what girl does?

"Well, he came home for Christmas and started in for 'a heavy petting party.'"

"But somehow, I had changed, I'd tired of the silliness. So I told him. He said I didn't care for him. And I showed him he didn't care for me or he wouldn't expect me to make such a fool of myself!

"More boys came home for the holidays. After an evening when a lot of us had been together, one boy demanded a kiss. I refused and called my particular friend. Instead of helping me, he held me and demanded the kiss for himself!

"I gave him back his fraternity pin, he gave me my ring. With hardly a word, we parted. He has gone back to college to forget me!

"Don't imagine I'm sitting at home looking at his picture! I'm only getting a little wilder, out every evening, but all the fun is pretense and mockery.

"I used to believe in some kind of ideal love but I've learned that most boys take a girl's love quite some other way.

"I'd give the world to be able to hate him. But I can't. He has lots of good points. I've told only the bad ones.

"I'm only a modern flapper pushed to a point where I don't know what to do."

POLLY AND PAUL --AND PARIS

By Zoe Beckley

"YOU ARE MY WORLD"

The arrival of Paul Dawson in a little town of the middle west brought love into the life of Polly. The night Paul proposed, he announced that his firm had made him head of their Paris Agency. The marriage was hastened and within two weeks the honeymoon couple were sailing for France.

Polly and her husband leaned upon the rail as the great ship, whistle a-scream, slowly moved out from the pier. Grimy dockhands shouted, flung ropes and ran to and fro. Half a dozen tugs, their blunt noses pressed against the liner's sides, pushed and strained noisily to get her into midstream, headed toward the sea.

The little bride held tightly her man's arm. Her eyes swept the vanishing pier where not one familiar face smiled her a good-by. She thought of her wedding four days ago in the pretty church at Lester Falls. Of her girl friends, fussing ecstatically about her, "envying her," the super-fortune of such a husband and such a honeymoon! Of Aunt Sae, stern to the last, and full of warnings about "that wicked Paris," but affectionate and dependable. And of her mother, whose love she knew would follow her everywhere thru every joy and sorrow—the sorrow seemed too remote to think about now. She thought back to that gay dinner on the eastbound train. And of the darling drawing-room—the first Polly had ever seen—with their new bags in and the Pullman porter grinning sympathetically at the rice that fell out of their hats.

Then there was the marvelous hotel in New York, with the room done in rose, and the shaded lamp, and Paul's flowers everywhere, and the bed turned down by the smiling maid who called her "Madame."

Polly could not shake off the feeling that she was in a dream and must wake up and find herself in the cheap house on Hill street, or typing away at stuffy old Canby's letters.

She squeezed Paul's arm and he promptly put it round her shoulders—and who cares what the passengers think!

"Look at it, dear, that sky-line! How can buildings be so tall and not fall over? See the way the sun flashes on the windows, and, oh, Paul, look at that church steeple stuck in amongst those giants! It's just a toy! Isn't it all too wonderful!"

"Yep—fine little town New York. But wait till you see Paris, my own girl. There's a city for you! New York's crude compared to it. Oh, I don't mean in conveniences—they've got more bathtubs and telephones in Lester Falls I guess than in all Paris."

"But I mean the life—the people—the way they look at things and understand things. They know how to live, believe me! And everything's so beautiful—the great open spaces, the parks and gardens and boulevards and palaces. And the shops —wow! Maybe I better not let you see the shops, Pollykins."

"Are the women really so wonderfully dressed—better than in New York?"

"Well—different, somehow. More art, or something. Why, they live to be beautiful and dress, and wear jewels and laugh and love and be charming. At least I suppose the gaiety's come back to Paris. I haven't seen it since the year I left college."

Polly pressed her cheek against his sleeve. How tremendous the world was—and how unknown! How little was she and Lester Falls and the things she knew compared to the things Paul knew!

"But you love your little old plain Jane from the prairie, even if she isn't a—Paris-ite!"

Paul bent his head with his dear boyish laugh and put his lips close to her ear.

"Love you, Mousie? You are my world. I can't tell you here how I love you, the people might get personal. Come on down and see our cabin—I'll tell you there."

The momentary sense of strangeness and loneliness passed. Joyously she followed Paul down the gangway as he hunted out their number. A woman stepped from a room three or four doors away, glanced curiously at Paul, then came toward them smilingly, holding out her hand.

EVANS SAYS ED WALSH WAS SUPERMAN OF THE BALL FIELD

By BILLY EVANS
ED WALSH, once famous pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, will live long in the annals of baseball as the "iron man" of pitchers. If there ever was a glutton for work, Ed Walsh was that individual. From 1906 to 1912 he took part in almost fifty games a year.

Walsh in those six years did about twelve years of work. He had outlived his usefulness at a time when he should have been at the height of his career.

Here are just a few high spots in the career of Walsh, from 1906 to 1912, his big years in baseball. Here is his 1906 record.

Won 17 games and lost 13. In 10 of his 17 victories he scored shut outs.

Pitched 3 one-hit games and worked in 13 games in which he allowed 5 hits or less.

In the record of 19 straight made by the Chicago White Sox from Aug. 2 to 23, he worked in 7 games and won them all.

In hanging up the 7 victories in 22 days he allowed only 6 runs. In 4 of the games he shut out the opposition.

In the 1906 world series with the Chicago Cubs, which the Sox won, to the great surprise of the baseball world, Walsh featured with his pitching.

He twice beat the Cubs. In his first game against Chance's then great team, he allowed only 2 hits and no runs and struck out 12 men.

Walsh had another big season, altho not replete with the many sensational performances that featured his work in 1906.

His record for the season was 24 games won and 18 lost.

The season of 1908 was the biggest year in the career of Walsh.

The "Big Moose," as he was known by the ball players, worked in 66 games, nearly half the number played by his club.

Walsh started 49 times, finished 15 other games and managed to win 49, lose only 15 and tie 1 game.

In a game against Cleveland he struck out 15 men in 8 innings, yet lost the game. In that contest, losing, pitching for Cleveland, shut out Chicago without a run or hit, not a player reaching first base.

He scored 12 shut outs. In the last 9 games of the season he worked in 7 of them.

1909
The strain of the three previous years told on the old arm and the best Walsh could do was to win 15 and lose 11. The Sox finished fourth, 1910

Regained his title of the "iron man" of the league by working in 45 games.

With a club that finished sixth, Walsh won 18 and lost 20 games.

1911
Once again he did more work than any other American League pitcher. His record was 27 won and 18 lost.

1912
Worked in 62 games, altho his record only shows the winning of 13 and losing 8 games.

1913
Fadeout. Despite his many efforts to come back, the old arm wouldn't respond. The "Big Moose" was thru.

1915
Exit without cheers.

KOFF MAY FIGHT IN LIMA AS MAIN GO OF NEXT SHOW

Negotiations will probably be opened this week by the Lima Gym in an effort to bring Oscar Koff, of Cincinnati, here January 27 to fight either Babe Bream or Jake Gross in the main go of the next show to be staged at Memorial Hall.

Earl Smith, Gross' manager, says Koff refused to fight his boy again after the trimming administered to him recently in the Queen City by the Lima slugger.

Giving him a fight with Bream seems logical and it is probable that such a bout can be arranged if Ed Schlatter will come to reasonable terms with his featherweight.

MAXWELL IS PLEASED
Charles Maxwell, one of the matchmakers, is enthusiastic about such a match and he will probably use his influence with the other two promoters, Earl Smith and Louis Golger, to have the bout arranged.

Some definite action will have to be taken soon as the date for the next show is less than three weeks distant.

Ed Schlatter could not be found Monday for a statement as to whether he would let his boy fight Koff, but it is probable that he will if terms can be agreed upon.

Grand Circuit Stewards Open Annual Confab

CLEVELAND — Stewards of the Grand Circuit opened a two day meeting here today to map out a schedule of harness horse racing dates which will govern practically all harness racing in the country and to consider rules and regulations which probably will have an important bearing on amendments that are expected to be discussed at the joint meeting of the rules committees of the American and National Trotting association at Columbus Thursday.

The schedule and rules committees were slated to meet this afternoon. They will have under consideration applications for membership from the Detroit Driving club and the Kenilworth Park management, both of which propose to race at Windsor, Ont., across the river from Detroit.

While nothing definite will be done until action is taken by the stewards tomorrow, it is generally believed by horsemen attending the annual meeting that one of them will be successful.

STUDENT BOXER IS AFTER FEATHERWEIGHT TITLE

whose circumstances prevented the realization of Harvey's dream of a college career. He has always aspired to be a doctor.

Harvey knew it was possible to work one's way thru college. He made up his mind to do it. His basic ability, displayed in many amateur bouts, was his only asset. He decided to capitalize it, and entered the professional ranks.

In the space of little over a year I have earned over $7,000. It has enabled me to pay my way thru medical college from which I will graduate next year, to buy a little home for the old folks, and to enjoy some of the pleasures of life for myself," says Bright.

The ring, however, has no attractions for me unless I can be the champion. It is not my intention to devote my life to it. The medical profession is my goal. Of course I would like one crack at Kilbane. That's only human. But I must get my chance within the next six months, because as soon as I graduate I shall give all my time to my profession.

NEW YORK—"I shall quit the ring, unless I can get a fight with Johnny Kilbane for the featherweight title within the next six months."

That's a queer statement from a man regarded as a logical contender for Kilbane.

However, with Harvey Bright, boxing is merely a side issue.

HAS-POOR PARENTS
Harvey Bright, or Brightman, his real name, is the son of poor parents.

NOTICE, ALL-STARS!
In response to a challenge issued by the Lima All-Stars, the Big 11 comes out with a statement that they will play that team any place, anytime. Call High 3224 and a game can be easily arranged, the manager says in a statement to the press.

THREE HIGH SCHOOL CAGE GAMES HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Three Lima high school basketball teams will play home games Friday.

Central meets Findlay, St. Rose plays Springfield and South will tackle the Leipsic quintet.

Such an outlay of games means much hard work on the part of the players in each of the schools to get in form for the battles.

Findlay has one of the strongest high school basketball teams in northwestern Ohio, and the Springfield team to meet St. Rose is the Catholic team which last year won the championship of the downstate city.

SOUTH WILL WIN
Leipsic is not expected to be of sufficient strength to give South much of a battle, but Coach Ward Young's fighters are ready to tackle anything in their line.

Both Central and South will play out of Lima a week from Friday night. Central goes to Springfield and Young's team will journey to the neighboring village of Bluffton.

The first of the annual South-Central scrap is only three weeks away. A movement is well under way to have both of the games played on a neutral floor, probably at the Y. M. C. A.

The Delaware tournament is to be held February 24.

Change Plans

NEW YORK — Many changes marked training camp plans of both major leagues today. Nine big league teams decided upon new locations for their spring workouts.

Texas will entertain six teams this year. Florida has lured four clubs, while Arkansas and Louisiana draw two major outfits each and Georgia and California, one each.

Conne Mack has decided to take his athletics to Eagle Pass on the Mexican border. The Giants, world's champions, will go to San Antonio, and the Yankees, American League champions, to New Orleans.

The Boston Braves have changed to St. Petersburg, Fla., while the Phillies have shifted to a brand new training center, Leesburg, Fla.

Carpentier To Fight, Thursday

LONDON — Georges Carpentier, heavyweight champion of Europe, who gallantly downed to defeat before Jack Dempsey in Jersey City last July, has his first test since that battle, next Thursday.

Carpentier meets George Cook, Australian heavyweight champion, at Albert Hall, January 12.

Sport fans will regard the coming fight as of great importance in showing whether Dempsey's blows materially and permanently weakened the French champion and whether his hand is not again.

HOW TO REPORT YOUR INCOME

Here's Second Part of Conkey's Tax Guide

EXEMPTIONS ARE EXPLAINED

Expert Also Tells First Step in Filling Blank

R. A. Conkey, tax consultant for the National Bank Savings and Trust Co., Cleveland, is the author of the simple language for the first part of the Lima News. This is the second article.

BY R. A. CONKEY

QUESTION 12—How much of an individual's net income is exempt from taxation?

ANSWER—(1)—If single (or widowed or not living with husband or wife) exemption $1,000. (2)—If married and living with husband or wife, or head of a family, the exemption is $2,500 unless the net income is over $5,000, in which case the exemption is only $2,000.

(3)—If husband and wife both make returns either may take the joint exemption, or it may be divided but the total for both shall not be more than $2,500.

(4)—A further exemption of $400 is allowed for each dependent person.

Q 13—How should one proceed to make a return?

A—First, read the instructions on the return carefully. Then fill out the work sheet, which is attached to the return, in pencil, go over your figures and figures, and be sure that they are correct before filling out the return proper in ink.

When the return is completed it must be signed and sworn to either before a notary public or a deputy collector. The return should then be filed with the collector together with payment of at least the first quarterly payment.

If further assistance is required in filling out the return go to the collector's office or to your bank where the necessary help can usually be supplied.

Q 14—What is the rate of tax?

A—If you are a citizen or resident of the United States the rate of normal tax is four per cent of the first $4,000 of your net income in excess of your personal exemption, and eight per cent of all above the $4,000. If you are not a citizen or resident of the United States the rate of normal tax is six per cent of the first $4,000, and eight per cent of all above the $4,000, and so on up to a maximum of 65 per cent of all over $1,000,000.

Q 15—What items are not allowable deductions?

A. (1)—Personal, living or family expense.

(2) Any amounts paid out for new buildings, for improvements or betterments which go to increase the value of any property.

(3)—Premiums paid on any life insurance policy under which the taxpayer is directly or indirectly a beneficiary.

Q 16—What items of contributions are allowable deductions?

A.—Any contributions or gifts made during the year to any corporation or community chest fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational purposes, including posts of the American Legion or women's auxiliary units thereof, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals. Also any amounts given to the United States, any state, territory or the District of Columbia for exclusively public purposes.

Q 17—Is there a limit to the amount of contributions allowed an individual?

A.—Yes, you are only allowed an amount equal to 15 per cent of your net income before deducting the contributions.

Q 18—What items are entirely exempt from the tax?

A. (1) Proceeds of life insurance policies paid upon the death of the insured.

(2) Amounts received by the insured as a return of premiums on life insurance, endowment or annuity contracts.

GREATEST DRAMAS LIE IN SIMPLEST MOMENTS

BY ESTHER WAGN

THE greatest moment in a drama, staged, photographed or lived, is its simplest moment. It is the birth or death of an emotion or ideal, as birth or death is the greatest and simplest moment in life.

When playwright or scenarist presents such an episode in the life of a character without the trappings of his own emotions or reactions, true drama is achieved.

"The Song of Life," a new film, in its opening scenes gives promise of being one of those rare dramas of simple theme.

Plag station in the prairie. Section boss, wife and baby. One other house in sight. Blowing sand. Desolation.

Dishes to wash three times a day. Kitchen range, crib and oil-clothed table wife's only instruments of culture or advancement.

Railroad president's car pulls into siding. Prairie woman sees another world. Women in fine clothes. Servants waiting upon table—and washing dishes. She climbs into coach of train and abandons husband, baby and home.

But her life was spent in hard work. Old, gray and worn, she washes dishes in a restaurant to earn her living.

She becomes a member of her son's household eventually and recognizes him as her son. She also comes to know that he hates the mother who quit him.

As in Maughan's stage play, "The Circle," the son of a runaway mother faces a runaway wife. But in the movie the mother prevents the son's wife from going.

The mother who deserted her baby finds happiness in her old age with that child and in washing dishes for him.

Oh, would that justice and life might run like that!

Barrie's "The Little Minister" At Faurot

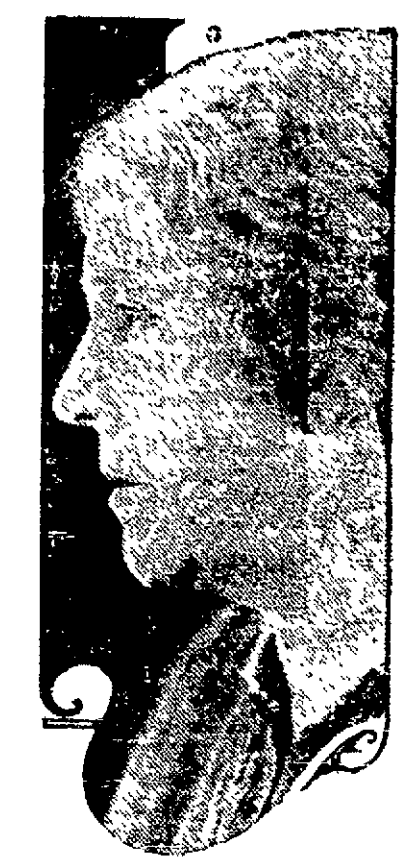

THE role of the mysterious gypsy girl, Babbie, in Sir James M. Barrie's play "The Little Minister," immortalized on the stage by Maude Adams (said Elsie Ferguson Sunday, beg pardon) was heroically made to order for Miss Betty Compson in the picturized version of this best beloved drama. Miss Compson gives to the role a piquant beauty, a charming audacity and above all a sense of values, that cannot be gainsaid.

Most of you know the story of the little minister, with the locale laid in the quaint old city of Thrums where, when the story opens, lives the once happy but now hostile weavers. An edict has just gone forth lessening the price of the web. Troops are sent to quell the rioters who, however, are furnished by a mysterious gypsy girl.

The little minister of the kirk, a righteous enough young man, falls beneath the spell of the gypsy maid, of which the all-seeing elders are at once aware. Follows a meeting of

HEED SIGNALS, MEN ARE WARNED BY REV. STEERES

Rev. Warren L. Steeves, pastor of the First Baptist church, addressed a large audience at the Men's meeting in Memorial hall Sunday afternoon.

His topic, "Disregarding Block Signals," was applied to everyday life and was coupled with excerpts from the Bible to show where humanity sins.

"Christ has made redemption for us," Rev. Steeves said. "Blunders in life are like those on the great railroads, a total disregard of block signals of safety. When we sin we run past the stop block and trouble generally occurs."

"It is necessary to keep physically fit to win the battle of life, stop at block signals of danger and run on a clear track. The physical self must be kept fit and clean, even as engines are kept well oiled and in shape to make their trips."

Rev. Steeves has been retained to speak at the Sunday afternoon meetings for the next two weeks.

TWO FINED $1,000 AS 'LEGGERS

Fox and Minovitz Admit Charges, Following Raid

Louis Fox, 38, of 329 E. Eureka-st., known thru certain circles in Lima as the "King of Bootleggers," and Edward Minovitz, 19, of 435 S. Main-st., his alleged accomplice in wholesale distribution of corn whiskey, were fined $1,000 each, they pleaded guilty in criminal court Monday.

The two men were arrested in the act of delivering a gallon jug to a customer Saturday night. Later Fox's house was raided and the largest amount of liquor confiscated by the police in a year past, was found.

That the two may have sufficient money to pay their fines was indicated by their demeanor in court. Neither seemed greatly perturbed. They have done a wholesale business for months past, officers assert and it is believed have made sufficient from the illicit traffic to pay the heavy fines.

Will Rogers Is a Cowboy Romeo

WILL Rogers' picture "Doubling for Romeo" is here at last. This is the picture in which Mr. Rogers has an opportunity to show his legs which, to a man known as the shrinking prairie flower of films, is unusual.

The story is a batmanweight affair about a cowboy who is too lazy and too bashful to win the girl who is just waiting around to marry him. It is a nutty, carefree, beautifully photographed burlesque produced, I imagine, much as Mack Sennett would have it. The subtitles are snappy and whimsical.

The girl in the case wants to be wooed and won as Romeo did the job. So the lazy cowboy sets out to discover who this man Romeo was. The person answers the question with the loan of a book and after our hero digests it, has a dream in which he, as Romeo, lays siege to the beautiful country maid who appears in his dreams as Juliet. The dream is further enhanced by expensive

SIGMA SUNDAY JAN. 15 THEATRE

Mary Carr in "Over the Hill"

"OVER THE HILL," the William Fox screen adaptation of the famous Will Carleton poem, which will open on Sunday at the Sigma theatre, not only had an amazing reception by a brilliant assemblage on the night of its premiere on Broadway, but, from the standpoint of press criticism, was accorded a most unusual welcome. The reviewers of the New York press apparently agreed with each other in singing the praises of this wonderful picture of simple home life and homely virtues.

Frank Pope, writing in the New York Journal of Commerce, prefaced his review with the frank statement that he does not care especially for motion pictures. Then he adds, regarding the premiere of "Over the Hill," "but last night we saw Mary Carr, of whom we never heard before, play a mother as a mother probably never has been played—for the screen at least—before. Reviewers of pictures raved over the work of Vera Gordon in Humoresque, and reviewers of plays did the same over Emma Dunn in Mother and Old Lady 31; but let them see Mary Carr in this picture. It is safe to assert that the camera never has recorded a finer and more faithful piece of acting."

FIRST BONUS APPLICATION. COLUMBUS — The first formal application for soldiers' bonus was made by William J. Chambers, a permanently disabled veteran living near Columbus. Chambers' application was filed at state headquarters this morning immediately after the office opened, by Major Arthur R. Burket, chairman of the Franklin organization established to assist in the distribution of application blanks.

MONTHS MORE OF DEPRESSION

Forbes Sees Rather Rough Business Sailing for Awhile

WHEN THE SKY WILL CLEAR

About Middle of March Improvements Are to Begin

(BY B. C. FORBES) — The New York (Special) — The second half of 1932 should bring better times than the first half, and particularly the first quarter.

Frankly I rather fear we are to have somewhat squally weather in the financial and business world during the winter months.

Each wreckage is coming to the surface and will continue to come to the surface for some little time. It may conceivably bring on a temporary wave of pessimism, as not so much of the highest circles, among ordinary business men and investors.

Commercial failures at present are staggering at the rate of one hundred every business day, an extraordinary number. This epidemic will probably continue for the next six weeks or two months. We must also be prepared for the outcropping of additional embarrassments among more or less important concerns heretofore carried along by bankers who were afraid to unleash trouble. It is hardly reasonable, either, to expect that no further salvaging of financial institutions will have to be undertaken.

A series of shocks will probably be indicated by the 1931 reports of many large corporations which will shortly begin to make their appearance. In not a few instances the disclosures will disturb holders of securities. Shrinkages in assets have been made—have come, in an alarming number of instances, from surplus rather than from 1921 earnings.

So far rather mild weather has been experienced in most sections, but should an ordinarily severe winter develop the effect upon employment will be another depressing factor, notwithstanding the gratifying progress made during the last two or three months in adding to the ranks of the employed.

Moreover, a huge labor strike is likely to loom up prominently on the horizon before long. We are already likely to undergo another spasm of uneasiness over railway labor, since the men appear to be determined to fight the managers' new move for another wage reduction.

Not until the first half of March will the international economic conference, embracing all European powers and, presumably, the United States, be called into session, in Italy.

If this means that no earnest efforts are to be made until then to check the debate now alarmingly under way in Germany and the countries of her ex-allies, things may be deeper in Europe during the next two months calculated to aggravate the effect of whatever unfavorable developments occur here.

All this sounds gloomy, I know. But if we are destined to encounter unpleasant developments, surely it is better to be prepared for them than to be taken unawares and unprepared. Just as sentiment was unjustifiably pessimistic a year ago, there was a tendency recently to expect nothing but the extreme and expect nothing but cheerful developments.

My own conviction is that, after further pronounced irregularity in industrial, financial, agricultural, transportation, labor and security circles during the fore part of the year, we shall enter a period of greater stability, gradually reviving activity, normal employment, reasonable but not any means dazzling earnings by industrial and mining companies, a clearer railroad outlook, a better stock market and some effecting buying by our vast agricultural population—assuming, as has been assumed, that 1932 crops will be normally satisfactory.

The way has been and is being paved—rather painfully, it is true—for the return of sounder financial conditions, sounder economic conditions and gradually improving general activity.

During the spring favorable developments should outweigh unfavorable ones, and after a summer of no abnormal briskness, business should become distinctly more animated, to the fall and continue on a rational basis thereafter.

OIL PRICES REDUCED

PITTSBURGH—Eastern crude oil took another slump today when five grades, including Pennsylvania, were lowered 25 cents a barrel. This was the second reduction within a week.

New prices were: Pennsylvania crude $2.25; Corning $1.90; Canoll $2.11; Somerset $1.90; Somerset light $2.15. Ragland dropped 15 cents to $1.00 a barrel.

SUGAR MARKET

NEW YORK — The early heavy sugar market was firmer and prices were 1-16 cents higher to the basis of 1-15 lb for Cuban cost and freight equal to 3.54 for centrifugal. Raw sugar futures at midday were 5 to 9 points net higher.

There were no changes in refined sugar with fine granulated listed at 150 to 1.90. Refined sugars without transaction.

NEW YORK — Stocks were disposed to strengthen at the opening of today's session, a sentimental factor probably being the further pronounced recovery of British and other allied foreign exchanges. Coppers, sugars and tobaccos were up one or two points. Within the first half hour, however, selling of oils and rails was actively resumed. Chicago and Northwestern, one of last week's heaviest features, declined 1-3-8 points to a new low record for the current movement and Delaware and Hudson and Mexican and Pan American petroleum became reactionary.

United Pacific, American Can and East Iron Pipe preferred also were under pressure.

Ignoring the 4 per cent opening rate for call money, stocks developed a heavier tone in the first half of the session. Another cut in Pennsylvania oil prices provoked further liquidation throughout that group. Associated Oil, California Petroleum, Standard Oil and New Jersey and Houston, Middle States and General Asphalt common and preferred lost 1-2-1-2 points. Representative industrial also were lower, Crucible, Harvester, American and Baldwin Locomotives and Railway Steel Springs falling 1 to 1-1-2. Chicago and Northwestern continued to weaken and Erie common and first preferred were heavily sold. Mercantile Marine preferred was the one strong feature, rising 1-5-8.

Call money rate and a sharp rally in foreign exchange were disregarded in today's stock market. Many investors reacted on heavy selling of rails and oils. Sales approximated 550,000 shares.

The closing was irregular. Bonds including government issues were firm.

AUTO RECOVERED; ALL ACCESSORIES MISSING

Police were successful Monday in recovering a truck touring the property of E. O. Bunker, 21, N. M. C. A. stolen on S. Elizabeth near Harmon's store, Sunday night.

The car was found in N. West-st, near Gilmore-av. The tools, accessories and robes were taken by the thieves. Joy riders are suspected.

WOOLWORTH BUILDING PARLEY INAUGURATED

W. B. Douglass, consulting engineer, and F. W. Woolworth, company, Buffalo, met City Manager C. A. Bingham, President Harold Cunningham of the city commission, J. Kennard Johnson of the chamber of commerce, and Lima real estate men Monday to discuss plans for erection of a new building at the southwest corner of High and Main-sts, on the site of the old Masonic temple.

The chamber of commerce is vigorously opposing the movement for a building of less than six or eight stories high.

TRIAL OF ARBUCKLE TO BEGIN WEDNESDAY

CAN FRANCISCO — The second manslaughter trial of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, charged with having caused the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, Los Angeles motion picture actress, will begin Wednesday, as the result of today's proceedings in the superior court.

CHICAGO — Absence of any active buying tended to weaken wheat market today in the early trading. The fact that an election for officers of the board of trade was in progress served to diminish dealings. Besides bulls were apparently inclined to go slow pending further developments in regard to milling demand and to crop damage southwest. Open quotations which varied from unchanged figures to 3-8 lower, with May 1.12 to 1.12 3-4 and July 1.01 3-4, were followed by a sharp setback all around and then by a rally which, however, failed to last.

Corn and oats were easy with wheat. After opening unchanged to 1-8 and 1-4 lower, May 53 1-2 to 53 5-8, underwent a further sag, but then recovered somewhat.

Oats started unchanged to a shade higher, May 39 to 39 and 39 1-8 and later showed slight general losses.

Provisions were dull but firm. The wheat cake was heavy, 3-4c to 1-1-4c not lower. May $1.11 5-8 to 1.11 3-4 and July $1.01 to 1.01 1-8.

The corn close was steady at 1-8 to 1-4c and 3-8c net decline with May 53 3-8 to 53 3-8 and 1-2.

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By McMAN

SHORT SHAVINGS

Cy Metzger, Western Ohio Railway employee, planned to give up smoking on New Year's.

"But in the excitement of seeing in the New Year," he says, "I didn't think of my resolution in time and now I'll have to wait until 1923."

Eddie Kohler, piano salesman, went into a downtown store to price razor blade sharpeners.

The prices of those he picked up seemed high. This was explained when he learned from a clerk he was looking at fishing reels, a friend states.

Foss Zartman of the Emerson W. Price company read a play review in which the reviewer said the play left him cold.

"He wouldn't have felt that way if he had my seat," says Zartman. "It was directly over a radiator, with the hot air coming up thru the floor full blast."

Justice of the Peace, W. H. Guyton was lecturing a girl brought in to his court on complaint of neighbors that she disturbed their rest every time she came home late from a dance.

"Is this true," asked the judge, "that you were on the street intoxicated?"

"Why certainly, judge, you know I have to get home some way, don't you?"

Harry Hagerly arose late Tuesday in a hurry, he tried to climb into his uniform suit wrong end to. He pulled the sleeves over his feet and tried to walk. "That's how I got this bum lamp," he said.

Rev. J. A. Canby was asked for a dime by a beggar.

"I will give you the money," he said, "if you will promise to buy food, and not spend it for hard drink."

"Say," interrupted the vagrant, "don't you know you can't get nothing but a smell for a dime?"

Representative John G. Cooper, Youngstown, who it is known has been hopeful that Newberry might be unseated, appeared on the floor of the senate Friday while the Newberry case was under debate. A few minutes later he stepped into the Republican cloak-room and engaged in earnest conversation with Senator Willis.

The subject of the case, however, was not discussed, but it is believed the Newberry case was discussed. Cooper also chatted for a few minutes with Senator Kenyon, who has been one of the outspoken Republican opponents of Newberry.

Representative John L. Cable, Lima, author of a bill in the house to amend the federal corrupt practices act which was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, also spent much time on the senate floor in the past few days and has conferred with Senator Willis.

A resolution is now pending before the senate committee on audit and will be taken up for consideration some time early this week, which, if adopted, may result in a sweeping inquiry into the distribution of postmasterhips in many of the principal cities of Ohio.

The probe is suggested in a resolution introduced by Senator Robinson, Democrat of Arkansas, which is referred to the audit committee, headed by Senator Calder, Republican New York.

Senator Calder declared here yesterday he is awaiting the return to Washington of several major members of the committee before deciding whether or not to report the resolution to the senate, with the recommendation that it be adopted.

Senator Robinson accompanied his resolution with a statement to the effect that the administration has been guilty of flagrant disregard of civil service regulations and has been "flooding" the rules governing the selection of postmasters.

The resolution provides that a special investigating committee shall be appointed with power to determine whether or not postmaster-ship examinations, such as have been held recently for Youngstown, Kent, Warren, Hamilton, Lorain and many other important Ohio cities, have

ROB DEMOCRATS OF AN ISSUE

Willis Vote Against Newberry Held Good Politics

SEE DANGER AHEAD IN OHIO

Inquiry Sought in Distribution of Postmasterhips

THE LIMA NEWS BUREAU

WASHINGTON—(Special)—In an effort to keep the Newberry case out of the Ohio congressional elections next fall, it was reported here today, Ohio members of the house are bringing strong pressure on Senator Willis to underwrite him to vote with Senator Pomerehne for the unseating of the Mahan senator.

Ohio congressmen, all Republicans, argue that if Willis votes to unseat Newberry it will rob the Democrats of an issue which they fear would be injurious in the fall campaign to all candidates on the Republican ticket.

It Willis lines up with Senator Pomerehne, who has taken a prominent part in the fight on Newberry, they contend that Pomerehne's campaign for reelection will lose much of the "thunder" which it is said Democratic candidates for the lower house are relying to help pull them thru the election.

Representative John G. Cooper, Youngstown, who it is known has been hopeful that Newberry might be unseated, appeared on the floor of the senate Friday while the Newberry case was under debate. A few minutes later he stepped into the Republican cloak-room and engaged in earnest conversation with Senator Willis.

A resolution is now pending before the senate committee on audit and will be taken up for consideration some time early this week, which, if adopted, may result in a sweeping inquiry into the distribution of postmasterhips in many of the principal cities of Ohio.

The probe is suggested in a resolution introduced by Senator Robinson, Democrat of Arkansas, which is referred to the audit committee, headed by Senator Calder, Republican New York.

Senator Calder declared here yesterday he is awaiting the return to Washington of several major members of the committee before deciding whether or not to report the resolution to the senate, with the recommendation that it be adopted.

Senator Robinson accompanied his resolution with a statement to the effect that the administration has been guilty of flagrant disregard of civil service regulations and has been "flooding" the rules governing the selection of postmasters.

The resolution provides that a special investigating committee shall be appointed with power to determine whether or not postmaster-ship examinations, such as have been held recently for Youngstown, Kent, Warren, Hamilton, Lorain and many other important Ohio cities, have been conducted fairly and in accordance with the rules.

The Republican "regulars" are opposing the resolution and will attempt to block it on the ground that it has been put forward for political purposes. A large group of senators on the Republican side, however, are reported unsatisfied with the administration of the postoffice patronage and may join with the solid Democratic majority to insure a searching probe.

The terms of the resolution are admitted to be broad enough in scope to make it possible for dissatisfied applicants in examinations which have been held since March 4 to put their cases before the committee.

Representative Simeon D. Fess, Yellow Springs, chairman of the Republican national congressional campaign committee, has just returned to Washington to find his collected from Ohio assisted over a pulsed interview attributed to him, in which it was stated that campaign funds will be furnished to Republican congressmen next fall who have "bolted" the administration on important roll-calls.

The interview as published will be brought up in the regular caucus of Ohio members which will be held here Monday Representatives Regg, Cooper and others have expressed an intention of inquiring whether or not Fess actually made the statement attributed to him.

Dr. Fess refused to make any statement following his return late this week in denial of the article, but it was said at his office he had authorized no such interview.

Representative Timis J. Garrett, Democrat, Tennessee, floor leader of the minority, inserted in the Congressional Record this week the interview published in eastern papers a few days ago.

"It is true," Fess was quoted as saying, "that the members of our executive committee have under consideration now a proposal that campaign funds be withheld from Republicans who will not stand with the organization on party measures."

For the most part, the Republicans who have voted with the Democrats against party measures come from districts that are either normally Democratic or Republican by small majorities. Their votes in many instances are attributed to a desire to satisfy the Democratic element of their constituencies.

"On the other hand, most of the members of our executive committee come from the big contributing states like New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio. They do not feel that the funds collected should be sent into other states to help elect men who will not stand with the party after they have been elected."

The question whether these funds shall be withheld in the future for reelection has not been decided as yet.

The speech delivered recently at Cleveland by Associate Justice of the Supreme Court John H. Clarke, in which the former judge of the Northern Ohio district court is reported to have favored the cancellation of the foreign loans, was brought into the debate on the appropriations bill, which is now before the house.

Representative Goodkowitz, Republican, West Virginia broke a long established precedent in the house by attacking the justice by name for his speech at Cleveland.

"The reputation of Justice Clarke as a citizen and a jurist, has never been questioned," Goodkowitz declared, "and what I am now saying does not in any manner reflect upon his private character or his judicial reputation."

"But it seems to me the learning and experience of this judge ought to have rendered him the more cautious in taking liberties, that have had, in some degree, a direct tendency to encourage France to believe that by holding up the agreement to reduce submarines, she would be able to induce the government to cancel the vast money debt she owes us."

Referring to Justice Clarke's Cleveland speech, an extract from which he inserted in the record, Goodkowitz continued:

"Gentlemen will note that at the very time when American delegates at the arms limitation conference were striving with the representatives of foreign powers to come to an agreement with reference to limitation of undersea craft, that this speech delivered by Justice Clarke was sent broadcast."

No comment was made on Justice Clarke's speech by other members of the house participating in the debate.

A system of compulsory universal physical training for American boys and girls, to be administered either under the war department or in the public schools and colleges, was advocated here this week by Representative R. G. Fitzgerald in a speech delivered at a meeting of the Walter Reed Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"I favor the establishment of universal physical training thru the medium of legislation by congress," Fitzgerald said, "and from what study I have been able to give the subject, I believe the Fess-Capper bill now pending provides the best immediate means at hand for inaugurating the system."

Representative Fitzgerald also advocated the passage by congress of a soldier's adjusted compensation act during the present session.

Representative C. L. Knight, Akron, is expected in Washington next week to resume his seat in the house. Knight has not been in attendance since the holidays recess. During the past week he filled speaking engagements at Ravenna and Mansfield.

Representative Simeon D. Fess, Yellow Springs has just accepted an invitation to speak at Akron January 30.

Fess wired his acceptance to the Builders' Exchange association who tendered the invitation. Fess is reported to be in excellent health.

Is Backache Making You Miserable

Are you dull, tired and aching—bothered with a bad back? Do you lack ambition; suffer headaches and dizziness—feel "all worn out"? Likely your kidneys are to blame. Lame-ness, sharp, stabbing pains, back-ache and annoying urinary disorders are all symptoms of weakened kidneys. Don't wait for more serious trouble. Get back your health and keep it! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Home folks tell their merit. Ask your neighbor!

Here's a Lima Case

J. N. Williams, 726 Atlantic Ave., says: "My kidneys were a source of annoyance. I had lame back and a heavy, dull ache across my back that unfit me for work. My kidneys didn't act right and I knew they caused the trouble, so when a friend advised Doan's Kidney Pills I procured some. I was soon free from all signs of the trouble."

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 50c.
